

Institute of Safety Management

Safety Creed

I pledge my knowledge, skill and integrity to the Promotion of Safety in all its facets and the Prevention of Accidents and the Protection of Health and Wellbeing, the Conservation of Property, Material and Resources and the Advancement of my Profession.

I pledge my knowledge, skill and proficiency to the continual Extension of the Science of Safety so that the highest Standard of Excellence may prevail.

I accept as a lifelong obligation the continual Improvement of my Knowledge, Skill, Ability and Proficiency for the Advancement of Safety and the Wellbeing of the Community I serve.

I undertake to Uphold the highest degree of Professional Conduct and Integrity – Protecting the Honour of my Colleagues as my own and that of the Profession, above all else, to the exclusive Benefit and Wellbeing of the Community.

Code of Conduct

Members Shall Conduct Their:

Relationships, business and social, - with the highest integrity;

Moral Responsibility – for safety, health and welfare without regard to race, creed, colour or religion;

Private Affairs – with sound judgment which will not detract from the dignity of the profession;

Employer Relationships – So as not to abuse their professional affiliations or offices to secure personal advantages and shall at all times avoid conflict of interest;

Professional Relationships – with the highest degree of integrity, limiting their involvement in such endeavors to those areas in which they have specific training, knowledge and competence whilst maintaining the highest degree of expertise;

Promotional Practices – Members shall not participate in exaggerated or misleading statements of their qualifications, experience or standing and shall not present their work in a manner which may in any way reflect unfavorably or bring discredit to the profession.

Articles, papers or any item for publication or media representation shall be factual, dignified and free from any derogatory implication to any party. Such articles, items or statements shall stipulate the author's degree of participation – if any – and give due credit to any contributory participants